Summer nights are meant to be spent outside.

This summer, The Philadelphia Orchestra takes the stage at The Mann Center for the Performing Arts to perform the soundtrack to a number of feature films.

The three-night series started last week with Gladiator Live, but luckily, there's still plenty of opportunities to take advantage of the alfresco good times.

Next week, The Philadelphia Orchestra accompanies West Side Story on Wednesday, July 30 and Star Trek Into Darkness on Thursday, July 31.

As the cherry on top of an already awesome evening, guests are encouraged to make a night of it and pack a picnic dinner — and BYOB, too. Bring a bottle of your favorite wine and watch the films unfold on the big screen. For information on BYOB restrictions (no kegs!) click here.

Lawn seats for both shows start at just $14.50 making for a super affordable night of live music and well-loved films.

Tickets for both show are available online.

Beyond the film screenings next week, singers and music groups rock The Mann Center all summer long. Throughout the next few months, John Legend, Lorde, Dr. Dog and more talented musicians take the stage. For the full rundown of summer concerts at The Mann Center, click here.
